

Open the Power BI report in the above folder. The aim of the exercise is as follows:

Your aim should be to allow a user to right-click on an exam on the main page, and have this show an analysis of all of the tests taken for this exam on the second (hidden) page.

To do this, apply a drill-through field to the (hidden) Skill tests page of the report. You should then be able to drill through from the List of exams page. Here's what you'd see if you right-click on Power BI and drill through, for example:

The Power BI test was only published in June 2018. Try moving, resizing and formatting the back button created for you automatically so that it looks as shown above.

Save this report as Selected tests, then close it down.