

The above folder contains a single Excel workbook. Choose to load this data into a new report:

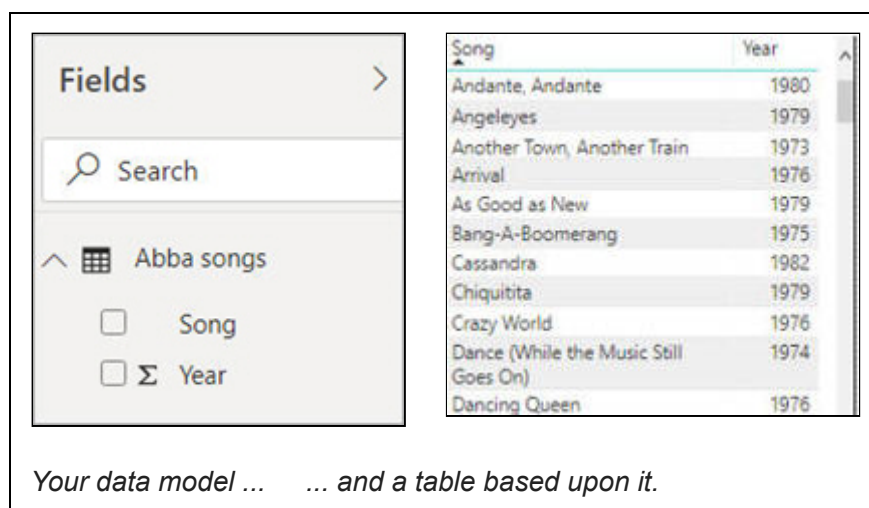

Choose this option to load Excel data into your report.

Give the song title and release year columns in the imported table better names, and hide the album column (no one talks about albums any more):

You should now be able to create this table:

Save this report as Mamma Mia, and close it down.